CHILD KILLED BY ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGE OF A REVOLVER.

As the result of an accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of Joe Claxton, colored, Nellie Davis, aged about three years, was instantly killed Saturday night about 8:30 o'clock.

The child was the daughter of Ida Davis, who lives on Cypress street. The mother and two children were at the home of Malinda Songo, on Pleasant street between Eleventh and Twelfth. Claxton had taken the bullets from a revolver and was handling the weapon when it was discharged the bullet entering the right shoulder of the child who was standing against his knee, passing through the heart and lungs and through the body. Death resulted instantly.

Claxton, who is a highly respected negro, is an employee of the firm of January & Connell, and is regarded as an honest and hard-working negro. He is frantic with grief over the accident, as he was devoted to the child. Coroner Rudolph Davis was notified and together with Patrolman Jas. Moreland he went to the home of the Songo woman where they conducted an investigation. From the statements of the inmates of the house it was evident the death of the child was due to an accident.

SUIT FOR HEAVY DAMAGES FILED IN CIRCUIT COURT.

Mrs. Nannie K. Florence, through her attorneys, Talbott & Whitley, of this city, has filed suit in the Bourbon Circuit Court, against Mr. John K. Northcott, a prominent business man of Cynthiana, for damages in the sum of $10,000 alleged to have been suffered by the plaintiff as a result of her horse becoming frightened at an automobile belonging to the defendant and overturning the vehicle in which she was riding.

The petition alleges that on May 11, 1913, an automobile driven by the defendant, his agent, employee when about two and one-half miles from Paris on the Paris and Riddles Mills pike, and going in the same direction in which she was driving, attempted to pass her vehicle and through negligence on the part of the driver of car, her horse was frightened, overturning the buggy. In the accident it is alleged Mrs. Florence sustained a fracture to her right hip and tore the tendons and muscles in the right limb near the knee. It is further alleged that the plaintiff suffered great physical and mental pain as a result of the accident and the sum of from between $250 and $300 had been expended during her illness to restore her to her former healthful condition, without result and she prays for damages in the above sum.

BOURBON FISCAL COURT MEETS IN SPECIAL SESSION.

The Bourbon Fiscal Court met Saturday in called session with Judge Denis Dundon presiding, but little business was transacted. Squires Burris and Shropshire were appointed a committee to effect a settlement with the County Road Supervisor. Woods & Cain were authorized to work the Clintonville and Paris pike and the Clintonville & Thatchers Mill road under the supervision of the County Road Engineer, and the Board Engineer was instructed to enter into a contract with the firm at the rate of $10 per rod.

BURIED IN WEDDING GOWN.

Dressed in her wedding gown, Miss Bright Kelly, beautiful and popular society girl of Covington, who came to her death early Wednesday morning when an automobile in which she, her fiancé, Brent Arnold, Jr., of Cincinnati, and four friends were returning from a pre-nuptial dinner-dance at the Miami Boat Club, turned turtle and plucked down an embankment on the Indian Hill pike, was laid to rest at Spring Grove cemetery Friday afternoon.

These services, which were held at the residence of the parents, Dr. and Mrs. William H. Kelly, in Covington, were private, and were attended by a limited number of friends and immediate relatives. Although it had been requested by the parents that flowers be omitted, scores of the victim's friends had not been able to refrain from paying this last tribute to the unfortunate young woman. The floral wagon which followed the white hearse that conveyed the remains of Miss Kelly to the cemetery was packed to its utmost capacity with a mass of beautiful bouquets and floral pieces the tokens of the affection and sympathy for Miss Kelly, who was one of the favorites in society circles of three cities.

Along the sidewalks in front of the Kelly home stood a crowd of sympathizers and mourners. Standing about the casket, their heads bowed, were the sorrow-stricken parents of the victim and four of her companions on the fatal ride Wednesday morning, among them Brent Arnold, Jr., whom the accident bereft of his intended wife. His head was bandaged and his face and hands showed cuts and bruises sustained in the mishap.

Those attending the funeral from this city were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Alexander, Mrs. Belle Brent Alexander, Mrs. W. W. Haley, Mrs. Fannie Belle Sutherland and Mr. Clay Sutherland.

WILSON TAPS KEY; DYNAMITE BLASTS.

The momentary touch of a key by the President of the United States Friday, sent a flash of electricity through a continuous telegraph and cable connection of 4,000 miles, setting off a gigantic blast of dynamite, which exploded the Gamboa dike, the last of the great physical barriers to water communication in the Panama Canal.

It was an extraordinary feat of telegraphy, especially planned for the occasion. At precisely 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, President Wilson, by simply closing a telegraph key at the White House, sent the current over land and sea, and just a few seconds later came the message informing him that the explosion had been successful.

Our own bad luck doesn't worry us as much as the good luck other people have.

FORTUNES MADE OUT OF WRECKED VESSELS.

(New York Sun.)

London—Another instance of lucky speculation in wrecks has been provided, a Melbourne firm having bought a disabled ship for $1,840 and found that it was worth $60,000. The ship was the Jean Bart, a French bark of 1,981 tons net, and she has just been saved from entire destruction and has been towed into harbor after laying a battered wreck for two months.

The bark was on a voyage from Antwerp to Wallaroo laden with 3,000 tons of pig iron and coke, when she ran aground on Waudang Island, in Spencer Gulf, South Australia. Her hold quickly filled, and it was soon impossible to float her. For two months she was in this condition, the whole after part of the ship being under water. Her Captain cabled to his owners in France for orders, and received a reply to the effect that she should be sold by auction.

A number of Australian firms sent representatives to inspect the wreck, but none of them thought that it was worth while to buy. It was confidentially stated that the salvage was hopeless, but J. Bell & Co., grain merchants of Melbourne, made a bid, and the wreck was sold for $1,840. Some critics laughed and remarked that they were paying for a hold full of water which could not be raised. Messrs. Bell said nothing, but engaged a diver to inspect the vessel, and then the news became known that the damage to the bark was only slight. A hole a little more than a foot in diameter had been torn in the bow, and the diver reported that this could be easily repaired.

Work was begun at once, the water was pumped out of the hold after the hold had been plugged up, and after the vessel was thus lightened she was towed off and beached. After that further repairs were carried out, so that the ship could be brought to Melbourne to be docked. The work was successful. In spite of a strong gale right ahead the vessel was towed by a powerful tug to her destination, and now it is seen that the value of the ship and cargo is over $60,000. It is believed that before long the Jean Bart will be sailing the seas again, for she is very little damaged.

At Lloyd's a newspaper representative was informed that though this is regarded as one of the plums of the business, there have been several similar ones. "Round the shores of Britain every year," said a marine broker, "there are a number of wrecks which would yield a large profit to any enterprising buyer, provided he had the necessary facilities to sell or dispose of the property."

"Some time ago a steamer was wrecked off Yorkshire, and the buyer was a man who knew little about such matters, but he bought the vessel for about $1,500. It was not a big ship, but she had a valuable cargo on board, and it was feared that the bottom had been ripped out of the ship and the cargo lost. In the cargo was a large number of pictures. Few firms cared to touch the business, and the underwriters let it go for the sum stated. But the ship was inspected and raised, and then, to the surprise of everybody, the cargo was discovered to be little worse for its immersion. The property sold for nearly $50,000."

"There was another case a year or so ago of a ship which was wrecked with a valuable cargo on the coast of Africa. She was given up as hopeless and sold for a song. The new owner took a sporting chance—knowing the value of the cargo—of chartering a ship and sailing out to the wreck. He succeeded in raising her and towed her to Gibraltar. Here the cable parted and she was lost for two days, but ultimately was found again and brought to the Thames. That ship is still sailing the seas under another name and the owner made his fortune out of the deal."

"Few people have any idea that we have scores of wrecks lying around our shores. In some cases they are entirely abandoned to anyone who cares to take the 'pickings,' but in others they have been sold to local firms for small sums. Even the amount of iron and wood in some hulls would pay for the cost of salvage. One easily remembers the fate of the Oceana, which went down off Folkstone; the Mahratta on the Godwins, and the Preussen. From the Lizard one can see quite a number of wrecks on the coast line, and it has often been suggested that if these boats were saved systematically a profitable business could be built up in this way."

MUST FILE DESCRIPTION OF INDIVIDUAL RISKS.

A special from Frankfort, says fire insurance companies in Kentucky must keep on file the "make up" of all individual rates in risks written in the State hereafter and file a duplicate in the office of the State Rating Board. The board adopts basic rates, which are varied by the companies writing the risks, according to the character of the building constructed and the special hazards and exposures. So many complaints of increased premiums have come in since the basic rates were reduced on dwelling property that the board has promulgated this new rule, so that it will have on file data concerning every risk written in the State. The board has requested that all dwelling house owners, who have a grievance, to file complaints. The board considered a number of complaints from Elizabethtown, Frankfort and Somerset, which will be investigated.

The board also notified insurance companies, which asked for an extension of time on the recording of risks written, with losses and premiums, that they must begin keeping the record now, and any explanations required will be made as they are asked for.

Russellville, whose Mayor and City Council complained the city had arbitrarily been placed in a higher class for insurance rates by the companies, was placed back in the fourth and one-half class with the same rates that prevailed before the companies placed them in the fifth class. The insurance companies alleged that the water plant had not sufficient capacity to furnish adequate fire protection. The city is attaching its pipes to two big railroad tanks to be used in case of emergency, and the board considered that this removes the obstacle to a reduction in rates. The companies have thirty days' notice before this goes into effect.

AVOID SEDATIVE COUGH MEDICINES

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia, use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world-wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION START AN APPLE ORCHARD

The site for an orchard should not be low or level, but it should be located on land that is somewhat rolling so as to provide good air drainage. Care must be taken not to plant the trees on too steep a hillside, because of the difficulties in spraying, tilling and harvesting. Broad, flat bottom lands above a river are often good, because the river "draws" the frost and the land is very easily worked.

The question of exposure is of prime importance in the planting of trees. In general, northern and eastern slopes are more fertile than southern or western slopes. A northern or eastern slope is to be preferred in this region because such exposure aids in holding back the buds in the spring when there is danger of damage by freezing. Where early ripening fruits are wanted it is probably better to plant on land with a southern exposure. If there happens to be a river flowing close by, advantage should be taken of the slope facing it regardless of the way the land lies, unless it is altogether too steep. The river will serve to ward off the frost.

Apples thrive on a great variety of soils but in general they seem to do best on well drained loam. Any land that will grow good crops of corn or Irish potatoes is considered fit for an orchard, provided the location is such that the land will drain readily. Trees can not thrive in thin, badly worn soil or where an impenetrable subsoil is near the surface. Such a soil is likely to hold too much moisture, thereby causing the trees to be stunted and weakly. If it is necessary to plant an orchard in a soil that holds too much moisture, provision should be made for artificial drainage before the trees are planted. Tile is the most satisfactory form of drainage to install, even if the initial cost is a little high. Brush and stone drains are unsatisfactory because they have to be taken up and replaced too often in order to keep them in good working order.

Soil containing abundant plant food should be selected for the orchard so as to insure a hardy, vigorous growth from the very start. It is poor practice to crop land for several years, thereby exhausting the soil of the plant food, and then plant it to fruit trees expecting them to care for themselves. Kentucky has many orchards started in just this manner and in nearly every case they have failed. It is best to begin building up the soil, one or two years previous to the planting, by sowing some leguminous crop and turning it so as to supply plenty of humus and moisture to the trees. Young growing trees demand a large amount of nitrogen and moisture in order to make a thrifty growth, and a little work in building up a soil will be well repaid in short time.

Before locating an orchard for commercial purposes it is well to go into a community where apples are already being grown commercially because the markets in such a region are already well established. The fact that there are no orchards in a region should not prevent one from going into the fruit business provided he has the proper conditions. For an orchard to be successful it should be located where there is a good market or where the transportation facilities are good. Plant as close a railroad as possible so as to avoid long hauls and danger of bruising the fruit before it reaches the market. There are many fine fruit locations to be found in Kentucky, close to good markets and within easy hauling distance of the railroads. The land in many cases can be bought very cheap and with a little time and work it can be made valuable for orchard purposes.

Truck Replaced Three Teams

In eleven months this three-ton KisselKar Truck covered in actual service 4,760 miles at a fuel cost of $1.08 per day. Manned by a driver and one helper, it replaced three teams of horses. The average daily burden was 37 17.20ths ton carried an average load of four tons—one ton overload—but in the entire period named, was laid up only two and one-half hours for repairs.

"We can recommend the KisselKar Truck and assure that it lives up to its guarantee," writes Thomas E. Fleischer, manager of the Sheboygan Lime Works.

Two and one-half hours for repairs, carrying over 37 tons per day is a record worthy of notice. KisselKar Trucks cost little to maintain and are economical to operate because the problem is solved in KisselKar construction.

Note these striking KisselKar features—Simple engine—easy to operate—reserve power—excess capacity—differential lock preventing one drive wheel absorbing all the power on slippery places, and stalling the truck—four speed transmitters geared up—fourth speed permitting high speed when desired without racing engine; 15 to 20 per cent. lower fuel consumption than average trucks—light spring suspension for power plant, heavy spring suspension for load—gauge that weighs load—greatest accessibility—easy control—large brake drums, and extra powerful brakes—special bodies designed to meet every need.

KisselKar Trucks

In the range of capacity, 1500 lbs. to 5 tons, you can find just the type that fills your requirements—and with the KisselKar Truck goes the KisselKar Service, which is the manufacturer's guarantee of satisfaction.

KisselKar Service means taking off your hands all of the mechanical details. A special service building is maintained in this city for the benefit of KisselKar owners. KENTUCKY CROP REPORT FOR OCTOBER IS ISSUED.

The October crop report of the State Department of Agriculture was issued Friday. It says in part:

"Seventy-one per cent. of the dark tobacco is already in the house and is curing fairly well, as is indicated by a condition of 83 per cent. Seventy-two per cent. of the burley tobacco is in the house, and the condition is indicated as 82 per cent.

The general impression gathered from crop correspondents is that the crop of tobacco will not be either a large one—65 per cent. of a crop—or will it be one of extra quality.

"The crop of wheat has not been put in the ground as early as usual, only 53 per cent. having been sown October 1. Indications are not for a large acreage of wheat for next year. Dry weather has interfered very materially with the sowing. Pastures are still in poor shape, the general rains not being sufficient to materially alter the condition. Bluegrass pastures are given as 70 per cent., orchard grass at 77 per cent., clover at 63 per cent., and alfalfa at 76 per cent. The percentage of winter apples is small, being given at 60 per cent.

"The turkey crop is below the average, reports showing only 86 per cent. The percentage of ducks is 83, and the percentage of chickens is 90.

"In this report the Department has undertaken to find out the percentage of cattle, as compared with the usual year, that are going into feed lots this season. The dry pastures, scarcity of water and scarcity of feed would necessarily cut down the number of stock kept for the winter. Indications are that only 72 per cent. of cattle are on feed. Hogs on feed also show a marked decline from an average year as indicated by 71 per cent.

"There is practically a unanimous complaint from all sections of the State as to the scarcity of water, shortness of grass and lack of feed.

"Farmers are urged to sow cover crops, particularly rye, barley and hairy vetch, for winter pasture in order to save feed bills. Those farmers who have silos have been exceedingly fortunate in being able to save much fodder where the care of corn failed to materialize. It is hard to find a ray of sunshine in such a bad crop year as this season has proven to be. However, if our farmers take advantage of the lesson this has taught, it may prove to be a blessing in disguise. If this drought only teaches the farmer the value of a silo and the value of cover crops for winter, they may yet be richer as a result of the drought."

The smallest electric central station in the United States is at Sacramento, Nev., which is operated by a three-horse power coal oil engine, and its total load consists of thirty incandescent lamps.

A Carelessly Treated Cold is the source of most sickness because drugged pills, syrups and alcoholic mixtures are uncertain and unsafe.

Scott's Emulsion has been relied upon by physicians for forty years as the safe and sensible remedy to suppress the cold and build up the enfeebled forces to avert throat and lung troubles.

Don't tolerate alcoholic substitutes, but insist on the Genuine Scott's Emulsion. One bottle usually lasts longer than a cold. Every druggist has it. 13 75

DEATHS.

LEER

—Mr. Henry Leer, aged 77 years, died Thursday evening near Midway, Ky., the direct cause of his death being heart failure.

Mr. Leer was born in Bourbon county, near Paris, and had made Midway his home, having resided there his brother, Mr. James Leer, of Midway, for several years. Mr. Leer was never married, and retired from business some years ago. He was well-known, and was a consistent member of the Christian church.

His funeral services were held in the Paris cemetery Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. Leer joined the Confederate army in 1862, and was interred with the Confederate ceremony. The pall-bearers were members of the immediate family: Messrs. Green Clay, Charles Leer, John, A. Leer, C. Leer and Courtland Leer.

BEALART

—Mrs. Lizzie Bearlet, aged 70, died Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at the residence of her sister, Mrs. H. O'Neal, on Cypress street, after a protracted illness. About four years ago Mrs. Bearlet suffered a stroke of paralysis and has since been an invalid.

She is survived by three sons, Sherman and John Bearlet, of Bourbon, and Ray Bearlet, of Missouri. Four sisters also survive, Mrs. Fowler, of this county, Mrs. Neal, of Paris, and Mrs. Mitchell, of Lexington.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the grave in the Paris cemetery, conducted by Rev. W. E. Ellis. The pall-bearers were: J. H. Stivers, Joe W. Stivers, Marion Hall, George Erion, W. W. Burley and J. T. Hall.

AMENT.

—Mrs. Rebecca Ament, aged 83 years, died at 7 o'clock Sunday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. B. Marsh, on the Maysville pike, after a long illness.

Mrs. Ament had been an invalid for about nine years, and about two years ago suffered a stroke of paralysis, from which she never recovered. She was the widow of Mr. George H. Ament, for a number of years a prominent farmer of Bourbon county, who owned a large farm near Hutchison, this county. Thirty-two years ago he disposed of his possessions here and located in Marshall, Mo., where they resided until his death ten years ago, when Mrs. Ament returned to Kentucky and took up her residence with her daughter.

She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. B. B. Marsh, of this city, Mrs. Minnie Emerson, of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mrs. Josie Bartlett, of Chandler, Okla.; Mrs. S. P. Harris and Mrs. C. H. Harris, of Blackwater, Okla.; and three sons, Charles, of Blackwater, Okla.; Robert, of Sparks, Okla.; and H. D. Ament, of St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Ament was one of the best known and most highly respected women of the county. She was a member of the Christian church and possessing a charitable and kindly disposition, won the admiration of all who knew her and who will mourn her loss. In late years she has been confined to her home through illness, but her suffering was born with the fortitude of a Christian woman.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. E. Ellis, of the Christian church. The burial will take place in the Paris cemetery.

NEGRO DANCE AT NORTH MIDDLETOWN ENDS IN FIGHT.

A negro dance, at North Middletown Saturday night ended in a fight in which Dillard Haley, colored, was cut and seriously though not fatally injured. Two negroes, Will Stivers and John Brooks, are charged with the offense, and yesterday Haley came to Paris, where he secured a warrant for the arrest of the two men. It is alleged that Brooks inflicted the knife wound, which extended from about one inch above the left eye to the point of the chin, cutting the eyelid, but the optic was uninjured. The affair occurred at Kerrville, a small negro suburb about one mile from North Middletown. NORTH MIDDLETOWN CHURCH

THEATRICAL.

"Bought and Paid For."

William A. Brady's production of George Broadhurst's wonderfully attractive play, "Bought and Paid For," the reigning success of New York and London, the one big sensation of our time, comes to the Paris Grand, Wednesday, Oct. 15. Seats for the engagement are on sale and selling fast. "Bought and Paid For" is a forceful story, including characters of people in all walks of life, from the struggling telephone operator to the multimillionaire, around whom the story is written. The characters are seemingly alive, sympathetic and soulful. This unusual production renders William A. Brady the peer of producers when the cost of the cast and scenic equipment are to be reckoned with.

The production is most elaborate, every piece of furniture, bric-a-brac, draperies, and even the floor coverings are carried with the production. An unusual dramatic treat is promised. (adv)

"Belasco's Wizardry."

David Belasco has often been accused of being a "magician," but nothing he has ever done so thoroughly justifies that characterization as his production of "A Good Little Devil," which will be at the Grand Opera House, Cincinnati, during the week beginning Monday, Oct. 20.

"A Good Little Devil" is a fairy play, written by Madame Edward Rostand and her son, Maurice Rostand, wife and son of the celebrated French poet. A pretty story attaches to their joint authorship. It seems that during the several years that M. Rostand was engaged upon the writing of "Cyrano de Bergerac," his wife and little son were of necessity left to their own resources for pleasure and diversion. Madame Rostand had a pretty knack for making up fairy stories "out of her head," and these home-made tales her little son loved better than any she read from books. Indeed, he liked them so well, particularly the one they called "Un Bon Petit Diable," that Maurice prevailed on his mother to "write it in a book," which, to please the lad, she did, copying it all very carefully, and leaving blank spaces where the little Maurice could supply the illustrations with his colored crayons.

Young Master Rostand grew up, went away to school, and his beloved "Good Little Devil" was forgotten until a couple of years ago. At that time, encouraged by M. Rostand, the mother and son made a real play out of it, which was produced last year in Paris. Mr. Belasco immediately obtained the English rights, and, thanks to his wizardry, the playgoing public of Cincinnati will have an opportunity of witnessing what has been pronounced his greatest achievement in dramatic presentation.

The scenic settings of the play are on a scale of magnificence which exceeds any of Belasco's former productions. Several carloads of scenery are carried, and an army of mechanics is needed to handle it.

There are numerous transformations to fairyland in which the electrical effects are most wonderful. The great original New York cast will appear. (adv)

GOVERNOR MCCREARY ISSUES ROAD WORK PROCLAMATION

County Road Engineer C. F. Redmon will call for volunteers to work the roads of Bourbon county on Oct. 24 and 25, pursuant to a proclamation issued by Governor James B. McCreary, declaring the above dates be set aside for labor on the roads. In every county in the State with but few exceptions, men in every walk of life will take the pick or shovel, drive teams or crush stone for the purpose of improving the highways of the State. A few days ago it was announced that Kentucky Congressmen would lay aside their duties at the National capital to return to Kentucky to labor on the roads on the dates designated by the Governor. The proclamation issued by the Governor is as follows:

"I have received letters from various persons requesting me to issue a proclamation designating two days for work on the roads of the State, and the Kentucky Good Roads Association, held Sept. 16, 1913, at the State Fair, Louisville, Ky., unanimously adopted the following resolution: 'Be It Resolved, That this Association request the Governor, James B. McCreary, to designate two days in the latter part of October to be set aside for work on the public roads in the State of Kentucky, and Messrs. Harry Sommers, Joseph Bosworth and R. C. Terrell be appointed a committee to wait upon the Governor and present this resolution to him.'

"Pursuant to these requests, I now issue this, my proclamation, calling upon the people in every county in the State of Kentucky to work on the roads in their respective counties on Friday and Saturday, October 24 and 25, 1913, commencing at eight o'clock in the morning and continuing until five o'clock in the afternoon.

"The County Judge and County Engineer of each county are directed to aid the people in complying with this request and in circulating proper notices, and they are authorized to select such persons as may be needed to assist. In every county where there is no engineer, or where they fail to act the Sheriff or other persons are authorized to organize and comply with this proclamation.

"Good roads facilitate the labor of farmers in bringing their products to market; increase the benefits of rural education by providing means by which the children of the State can go regularly to the neighborhood schools; furnish a better and easier way for the people to go to church; and greatly enhance the value of farm lands.

"This proclamation refers to dirt roads, turnpike and gravel roads, and as Kentucky always takes the lead in every movement and as Kentuck-

SICK, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Makes Upset Stomachs Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belches gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin, and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quick, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary. (adv)

LAUGH WITH THE KAISER.

The German Kaiser has the knack of being able to pass a joke, which oftentimes is pure buffoonery, yet preserving all the while his imperial dignity and royal distance. The following story is told in Pictorial Review:

"It is not to private life alone that the German Emperor confines his humorous propensities. Sometimes they burst forth slyly in the midst of a State function, upsetting those officials in the secret. One such instance came at a court ball at the Berlin Palace. The Empress needed fifteen thousand marks to complete payment on an orphan asylum she had founded. Her private secretary, Herr Grimm, went to consult the Kaiser about it, and he quickly agreed to give the required amount out of his own private surplus.

That night as the imperial family was entering in state to open the ball ambassadors, high dignitaries and nobility standing in solemn ranks to greet them, the Empress swept in first and quite by accident approached Herr Grimm. "Be careful," called the Emperor to him quite audibly, "she wants to borrow."

At Cadmen, the Emperor's model farm in West Prussia, where he loves to tramp about in rough clothes and high-top boots, there is a certain blacksmith whose hand is never too grimy for the Kaiser to shake. The Princess Victoria Louise from earliest years has shared her father's liking for the man's sterling qualities. One day the Emperor and Princess, in company with a high official, called at the smithy. As sit owner turned from work to welcome them, the Kaiser introduced him as "a special friend of my daughter's."

A MARVELOUS ESCAPE

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Bastians, of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of croup. As luck would have it I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers. GONE UP IN SMOKE

One-half of your coal—and it did you no good. Hard luck that. But there is a way to fix it. Here's how:

That stove of yours has seen its best days. You need a new one. You know it—but you have let things drift along.

Meanwhile, you have been losing HALF of every hod of coal you have put in it. Of course, you knew it, but you did not think of it that way. You know that half of every lump is gas. Fail to burn that gas and it is like throwing into the ditch half of every dollar you spend in coal.

Rather extravagant? Yes? The ordinary stove made of a lot of separate castings leaks air. They leak air at the wrong place. Places you can not control.

RESULT—the best part of your coal—the 14,000 cubic feet of common illuminating gas that is in the average ton of $3.00 soft coal—goes up the flue unburned.

You have lost it. It has gone up in smoke.

Save that gas—mix it properly with air and you have the hottest kind of a blue flame. But there is only one way to do this—Buy the only heater that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

It leaks no air.

This is the heater that mixes the gas and air and gives you all the heat in the coal.

This is the heater that burns any kind of coal and makes a ton of $3.00 soft coal do the work of $8.00 hard coal in a high priced base burner.

This is the heater that is a joy and comfort to the housewife. It makes no dirt or smoke in the house.

This is the heater that saves labor—fix it in the morning and at night and FORGET IT THE REST OF THE TIME.

This is the heater that gives a steady, constant heat from soft coal or lignite. This is the heater that will hold its fire untouched for a day and a half.

This is the heater we sell you under a guarantee that is as "good as old wheat at the mill." Burns soft coal, lignite, slack, hard coal or wood.

It is just the kind of a heater you want. Come in and see it.

STOCK AND FARM NOTES

—The Harrodsburg Herald reports the Mercer county court day as follows: "The largest crowd that has been in Harrodsburg in many years attended the October court day, Monday. All the livery stables were full, the streets filled with people, mule colts were brought in by the score, and all the merchants report a tremendous trade. Mr. B. G. Fox, of Boyle, bought a carload of mule colts, averaging about $38, which will be shipped to Pennsylvania. Mare mules averaged up to $100, but a big price for a horse mule was $50 and many owners took them back home rather than to sell at the figures. Chief Smith says Monday's crowd was one of the biggest he ever saw in Harrodsburg."

—The Percheron horses in France are nearly all raised in the Valley of the Huisne, where they run on pasture until they are three years old, after which the selections are made of those fit for stallions. They are grain fed while on pasture. The French Government takes an interest in the breeding of these horses and stimulates the business by giving prizes, etc. About five thousand stallions are qualified each year.

In consequence of the strike of apprentices at the foundry of Messrs. James Mackie & Son, Limited, Belfast, Ireland, the firm has decided to close the works, and as a result 1,200 employees are now idle.

FOREST RANGERS KILL MANY BEASTS OF PREY.

(Washington Star.)
During the past fiscal year 4,686 predatory animals were killed by Federal officers on the national forests, according to an actual count of animals, whose bodies were not found are presumed to have died from poison.

The rangers' bag of beast of prey this year, as shown by forest service figures, was made up of 206 bears, 3,541 coyotes, 133 mountain lions, 62 lynx, 583 wildcats, 64 wolves and 97 wolf pups. The figures indicate that the national forests are becoming cleared of wild animals that prey upon domestic livestock and game, for the forest ranger fills in odd moments between other jobs by thinning out "undesirable citizens" of the animal world.

Wolves are said to cause greater losses to Western stockmen than any other of the predatory animals. It is estimated that a family of wolves will destroy about $3,000 worth of stock per annum, and that one able-bodied individual costs the grazing industry $600 a season.

The wolves are of two classes—the smaller grey, black or timber wolves, called "lobos." These latter are the great stock destroyers against which the campaign of the rangers has been waged.

The methods of hunting wolves in the West vary. On the plains wolves are sometimes hunted with dogs and horses, but this way is considered expensive and dangerous. This spora is described by Roosevelt in his earlier hunting books. On national forests the rangers either set out poison or baited steel traps, or by watching trails and hiding near a wolf's den, are liable to shoot one or both of the old wolves when they return from foraging. In no other way, according to the forest service, can the number of wolves be kept down so as by finding their dens and destroying the young.

The skins of the predatory animals killed by the rangers are either kept as souvenirs or sold for a price or for bounty. Wolfskins in the West are said to bring from $4 to $6 for robes and rugs; a mountain lion skin, $10, to $20, and a bear-skin, anywhere from $20 to $150, according to size and species. Wyoming, in ten years, has paid out, it is said, more than $65,000 in bounties on wolves alone, and $95,000 more on coyotes and mountain lions.

Through his activity against these pests the forest ranger, it is said, has saved the stockmen many thousands of dollars during the year, while the protection to game animals, such as deer, elk and antelope, is of almost equal importance.

CHRONIC DYSPEPSIA

The following unsolicited testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have taken, Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. CURIOUS REQUESTS.

(London Telegraph.)
Ancient requests for having bells rung and beacons lighted for the purpose of guiding travelers by night are quite numerous in England, and this is not to be wondered at when one considers the apologies for roads and the absence of fences in the "good old times."

Among the curious legacies is one which provides for the holding of a plot of land rejoicing in the name of "Petticoat Hole," at Stockton-on-the-Forest, in Yorkshire, on condition of providing a poor woman with a petticoat once a year.

In the old days when the rushes were strewn on the floor in lieu of carpets many persons left requests for the floors of churches. Their use, of course, has long been disbanded, but in certain places the church warden attended to the preservation of their rights by cutting a little grass each year and strewing it on the church floor.

But, perhaps, one of the most eccentric requests was that of a certain John Ridge, of Trysull, Staffordshire, who left £1 a year for a poor man to go round the parish church while the sermon was being preached, awakening the slumbers and incidentally to eject any strange dogs that might invade the sacred premises.

A GENTLE AND EFFECTIVE LAXATIVE.

A mild, gentle and effective laxative is what people demand when suffering from constipation. Thousands swear by Dr. King's New Life Pills. UNSETTLED BOUNDARIES IN SOUTH AMERICA

The frontiers of Bolivia, like those of most Southern countries, are very uncertain, and a map of South America made in Bolivia includes a vast portion of the level lands east of the Andes called the Chaco. A map of South America made by the Argentine Republic, shows Bolivia as an entirely different country with no Chaco within its boundary. Then a map of South America made in Peru includes a vast hinterland in Amazonia, while one made in Brazil shows the Brazilian frontier away over in the territory marked Peru on the Peruvian map; while the map-makers of Ecuador and Colombia show an entirely different disposition of the lands at the headwaters of the Amazon from that described by the Brazilians and Peruvians who are this summer at the headwaters of the Amazon delimiting the frontiers of Peru and Brazil and incidentally rectifying the claims of Ecuador and Colombia. Meanwhile Bolivian soldiers are fighting Argentine soldiers on the Chaco, and so the question stands. In 1902 King Edward VII delimited the frontiers of Chile and Argentina, but the Chilians thought he gave the Argentines too much, so they allow the adventurers and bad men of Chile to sweep into this disputed territory, and they swoop down from the hills and capture the cattle upon the Argentine plains just as the Highlanders used to do in Scotland; meantime the statue of Christ, cast from the cannons of Argentina and Chile, stands upon the Uspallato Pass rebuking with its solemnity the warring factions on the plains below. ("Through the Latin Lands," by Peter MacQueen, in National Magazine for October.)

GAS RANGES.

Just received, a carload of New Process Gas Ranges at A. F. Wheeler Furniture Company, opposite Court-house.

LIGHT RAIN REVIVES HOPE BUT IS ENDED ABRUPTLY.

When a gentle rain began falling early Saturday morning there was a general feeling of relief among the citizens of Paris that the long dry spell which has prevailed, would be broken, and that the water famine which this city is facing would be relieved.

However, the rainfall was only of short duration, and a decided drop in the mercury brought an end to the precipitation, causing no end of disappointment. Clear skies and a continuation of cool weather are anything but encouraging, and the outlook is becoming more serious every day.

The Paris Water Company, under the present system of pumping, is making the best of the situation, and the consumers are only supplied with water at certain hours of the day. According to Superintendent Mitchell the supply of water in Stoner Creek can be retained for some time under the present system.

As a protection against fire the company has retained in the stand-pipe upwards of 300,000 gallons of water, and the consumers throughout the city are being supplied by direct pressure.

Employees of the Louisville & Nashville railway have been engaged in trenching the creek above the dam to allow the water to flow from the pools that are standing in front of Foot's landing and several others this side of the railroad bridge, to the basin above the dam within reach of the pipes leading to the railroad pumping station. At the same time, however, a constant stream is being drawn from Doyle's spring.

A large number of wells and cisterns throughout the city are dry, and many are compelled to carry water for great distance to supply the household.

FIRM DISPUTES ACCOUNT AND CHARITY GETS BENEFIT

A difference of opinion which probably would have resulted in a suit found an amicable adjustment a few days ago when it was decided by the parties interested to give the amount involved to charity.

Strauther & Booth, merchants of near Osgood, had been running an account with the firm of Curry, Tunis & Norwood, wholesale grocers of Lexington. In a settlement of the account the former firm entered a denial of a charge amounting to $5.90. The wholesale grocery firm was equally as strong in the opinion that the account was just. However their debtors refused payment.

To settle the affair without litigation and at the same time save a lot of expense a member of the mercantile firm made a proposition that the amount claimed be turned over to the Widows' and Orphans' Home, to which the Lexington firm agreed.

CHEAP CIGARETTES

Of Americaⁿ Manufacture Are. In Greater Demand in Bombay.

A report on the foreign commerce of Bombay made to the United States Department of Commerce and Labor by Consul Edward J. Norton, stationed in Bombay, India, states that the imports of manufactured tobacco, despite an increase in quantity, have not been maintained at the level of the previous year, and a decrease is also observed in the arrival of cigars.

Cigarettes, which form the largest item in this group, have not maintained the recovery which they exhibited in 1911-1912. The decline is most marked in imports of cigarettes from the United Kingdom, which decreased in quantity by 20,909 pounds. Egyptian cigarettes, which return the highest average value per pound, have increased and are well above the average of imports in the two years immediately preceding the enhancement of the duty, and a recovery, though small, is also noticed in the imports of cheap American cigarettes, which were returned at 2.210 pounds of an average value per pound of 26 cents.

"BOUGHT AND PAID FOR" GUARANTEED BY BRADY.

William A. Brady's production of George Broadhurst's remarkable play "Bought and Paid For," will be seen at the Grand Opera House, on next Wednesday night, Oct. 15. Clergymen, and lecturers and numerous branches of the Dramatic League of America have endorsed it because of its moral lesson, technical construction and fine balance, while the general public have made possible one of the most successful dramatic runs in theatrical history because they like the play, which is a chapter from real life. The present members of the cast have played over five hundred times in the production.

It would be well for the large producing managers who send out their attractions and then forget about them, except for the financial revenue derived, if they followed Mr. Brady's example in keeping close watch upon each of the traveling productions under his management.

Taking the public into his confidence, Mr. Brady sends out a personal guarantee with "Bought and Paid For," a copy of which reads as follows:

SPECIAL TO THE PUBLIC

This production of "BOUGHT AND PAID FOR," the biggest play of our time, carries my personal guarantee. It is the same in every particular as drew packed houses for two years at my Playhouse in New York.

If you find anything to criticize—any slurring or intimation by the players, or any point about the stage equipment that does not justify the highest claims of the management—I shall esteem it a very great favor to have you write me in detail at my offices in the Playhouse, New York.

It has been asserted in some quarters that lack of interest in amusements in all but the few largest cities has been caused by short sighted managers who sent inferior companies and shabby scenery to these centres. I am determined that my name, when attached to an attraction, shall be a full assurance of the high value of that attraction, and I bespeak your assistance to that end.

Any proper complaint you may make will receive prompt and respectful attention.

W. A. Brady

FADE FROM SIGHT.

Lights Used by Wizard to Make Persons Disappear.

Tucked away in a corner of the new scientific research laboratory of an electric lamp company's plant at East Cleveland, a man whom scientists know as the "Lighting Wizard" is performing wonders by applying scientifically the principles of light and color. He is M. Luckiesh.

"Magic come back to earth," people exclaim when they see the marvels he performs. Luckiesh, by deft manipulation of many colored tubes, can cause his assistant, standing on the stage of his laboratory, to disappear from sight.

"I can throw rays of light on a man which do not contain any of the colors in which he is clothed," Luckiesh explains. "Naturally, then, we won't see him, because all the light that strikes him will be absorbed and none will be thrown back to our eyes. He will disappear completely."

OVER ONE HUNDRED LIVES LOST WHEN STEAMER BURNS.

Futilely fighting against twin destroyers of the merciless elements, the officers and crew of the Uranium Line steamer Volterra struck their colors early Friday morning, and leaped from the blistering deck of a floating inferno into the yeasty foam of a tempest-tossed ocean.

Iron-hearted steel-muscle mariners from ten ships, called by frantic "S. O. S." wireless appeals, reached over the gunwales of oak-ribbed lifeboats to drag them from the very jaws of death.

They already had performed the same service for nearly half a thousand frightened passengers, who, despairing of rescue while the hurricane raged, leaped into the ocean when boats were unable to reach the side of the doomed vessel.

One hundred and thirty-six lives are known to have been lost as a result of the disaster.

JEALOUSY CAUSES A CUTTING SCRAPE IN BRENTSVILLE

I an altercation near the negro settlement of Brentsville Saturday night Horace Redmon, a colored boy about sixteen years of age, was stabbed several times in the back by Ben Stout. The trouble is alleged to have started over the attentions Redmon was paying to a colored girl with whom Stout was infatuated, and it is alleged that Stout concealed himself in a clump of bushes later in the night and when Redmon passed he attacked him. A number of wounds were inflicted in the negro's back. He was brought to this city, where his injuries were dressed.

Plans are being considered for installing a 200,000,000 candle power searchlight on top of the world's tallest building in New York.
